

Eisenhower Wins Major Senate Tests On New Farm Bill

Flexible Price
Support System
Voted 48 To 44

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Administration forces won all major tests in the Senate tonight on the controversial farm bill.

The Senate voted 49-44 to install the principle of the flexible price support system President Eisenhower asked for farm products.

Another test came on the question of how strongly the price of dairy products must be supported.

The Senate first defeated 48-44 an effort to raise the price supports on dairy products, from 75 to 80 per cent of parity, as passed by the House. Then it voted 49-43 to allow Secretary of Agriculture Benson to continue to support milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products at 75 per cent of parity.

But final passage of the farm bill was put over until Tuesday.

The Senate vote on the flexible price support system was on a compromise plan to support the basic crops—cotton, corn, wheat, rice and peanuts—at a scale ranging between 82½ to 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard designed to give the farmer a fair price in relation to his costs. Present law stipulates a flat 90 per cent system of supports.

The Senate range is exactly that adopted earlier by the House in a vote Eisenhower called "a great and sweeping victory."

The President originally asked for a range of 75 to 90 per cent but the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), changed this to 80 to 90 per cent.

With the price support issue decided, the Senate plunged into a second major battle over the level of price supports on dairy products.

Faced with multimillion dollar surplus stocks of butter, cheese and dried milk, Benson lowered dairy supports on April 1 from 90 to 75 per cent of parity.

The House voted to restore part of this cut, by raising dairy supports to 80 per cent of parity on Sept. 1.

Senators from dairy states had won approval of the Senate Agriculture Committee for a boost of 85 per cent on the same date but abandoned this in an effort to write in the House-approved level.

They were beaten on this 48-44 and then the Senate backed an amendment of Sen. Aiken to hold existing levels plus authority to support milk and butter fats as well as their products.

Aiken asked that this lower level be retained, saying it has reduced retail prices of butter and cheese, increased consumption, and encouraged farmers to "pull their dairy herds on nonproductive cows."

He said any increase in government supports now would provide millions of dollars of windfall profits to creameries and processors, who had been buying at the reduced level of supports hoping Congress would raise them later.

With the flexible price supports and the dairy issue out of the way, Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) announced that no additional major votes would be taken tonight. He said the Senate would resume at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

A long list of amendments had not been acted upon as the Senate quit.

But only one was regarded as a major controversy. This was another 8-7 recommendation by the Senate Agriculture Committee for mandatory supports on four important feed grains, oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums, near the level of supports on corn.

Mine Locals Approve Plan

LANSFORD, PA., Aug. 9 (AP)—Seven locals of the United Mine Workers gave unanimous approval today to a plan calling for the reopening of several hard coal mines formerly worked by the now disbanded Lehigh Navigation Coal Co.

The locals, in Lansford, Tamaqua, Nesquehoning and Coaldale, acted on the recommendation of the Panther Valley General Mine Committee that they accept the proposal of W. Julian Parton to open mines which he estimates will eventually employ 1,300.

First of the units to act was the Tamaqua local, whose pickets had blocked a reopening of Panther Valley mines formerly worked by LNC.

The votes today said in effect that the Lansford and Nesquehoning locals were free to negotiate with the independent firm headed by Parton without fear of picketing or other interference.

Emilie Dionne Buried Near Birthplace In Callendar, Ont.

CORBELL, ONT., Aug. 9 (AP)—Under a dark sky, the bells of a little village church tolled a requiem today for Emilie Dionne.

Touhy Freed; Judge Voids Conviction

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, prohibition era gang leader, was freed from prison today.

A federal judge dramatically ordered his immediate release from the penitentiary he crashed out of in 1942 in one of the nation's most sensational prison breaks.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes held that Touhy's 1933 conviction for the kidnap of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, big-time confidence operator, was obtained through lies.

Tears streaked Touhy's face as Barnes granted him a writ of habeas corpus.

"It's like beginning life again," he said as he walked out of the courthouse.

The stocky, 55-year-old convict, now grey-haired, was sentenced in 1933 to 99 years on conviction of kidnapping Factor and was given another 199 years for his part in the 1942 break from the Stateville Penitentiary near Joliet, Ill.

Touhy led six other convicts to freedom in the prison break. FBI agents later shot two of them to death and captured the others.

Airliner Rams Into Mountain; 113 Killed

TERCEIRA Island, Azores, Aug. 9 (AP)—A Colombian Avianca Air Line Constellation plunged into a mountain peak and burst into flames on this island in the Atlantic early today, killing all 30 persons aboard.

Three were listed by the airline as Americans: Flight Engineer Herbert W. Hopkins, whose home address was not given, and Franklin Prager and his wife, Gertrude of the Bronx, New York City.

The Constellation crashed about 100 feet from the summit of Mt. Ilha Terceira minutes after taking off for Bermuda from Lagerfeld Air Field, one of two big fields built in the Azores in World War II. Thick fog had prevented the plane from making its regular landing at the Azores' main international airport on Santa Maria Island.

The plane landed here for a rest stop and took off again at 1:37 a.m. (10:37 p.m. EST, Sunday) for Bermuda. Apparently failing to gain sufficient altitude, it plunged into the mountain peak about 2½ miles north of the field.

The plane carried 21 passengers and a crew of 9.

The airline said Prager and his wife boarded the plane at the last moment in Paris, after missing a direct connection to Rio de Janeiro. They leave three small children.

Foreign Aid Bill Compromise Wins House Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—House passage sent to the Senate today a compromise bill authorizing a $3,252,868,000 foreign-aid program for the present fiscal year.

Passage was by a final vote of 202 to 55.

The amount represents a splitting of the difference between totals voted in separate bills by the Senate and the House.

The Senate originally had voted for $3,140,000,000 more and the House for $3,140,000,000 less than the compromise provides.

The final amount agreed on is subject to actual appropriations provided for in a separate bill.

Atomic Measure Okayed By House, Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—A voice vote in the House today passed the atomic energy bill carrying authority for President Eisenhower to exchange some now-secret data with friendly nations and allowing private enterprise to enter the atomic power field.

There were only a few "no" votes heard as the House finished its work on the bill, but there was a possibility it might stir up another long round of oratory when it reached the Senate.

Institution Certified As Outstanding

GENERAL HOSPITAL of Monroe County has received full accreditation for its administrative policy, outstanding department and staff personnel.

A certificate citing the East Stroudsburg hospital as one of the outstanding institutions in the nation was received yesterday.

Awarded by the Board of Commission of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, the citation is the result of an evaluation conducted in June by Dr. William R. Albus, the citation reads:

First recognition was given the hospital in 1941 by the American College of Surgeons. Two years ago the nation-wide surgeons' organization merged with four other widely known medical groups to form the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Joining the American College of Surgeons in presenting the certificate of accreditation are the American College of Physicians, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and Canadian Medical Association.

To qualify for the recognition, the General Hospital had to meet rigid requirements set up by the commission, according to Superintendent Harry Smith.

The standardized requirements include an adequate physical plant, obstetrical and pediatric sections, sanitation improvement, fire protection, emergency lighting system, adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities.

The local hospital also had to have a well organized governing body holding stated meetings, appointed committees, medical staff members and qualified hospital administrator.

It also had to have a medical records department, proper facilities for the preparation, serving and storage of food; adequate facilities and qualified personnel to administer and store drugs.

Also required were a complete medical, nursing, dietary, dental and anesthesia departments and staff workers; a special clinic and out-patient department.

History of the local hospital dates back to 1951 when a public meeting resulted in formation of a committee to establish "The General Hospital." In 1950, Monroe County Hospital, Stroudsburg, and the General Hospital merged. Since then hospital facilities were increased and in May, 1951 the present hospital building was dedicated.

Frank S. LaBar heads the board of directors as president. Other officers include Edward C. Jenkins, vice president; Frank L. Patterson, Jr., secretary; and Jere H. Stoffel, treasurer. There also are 22 other board members.

Dr. Charles S. Flagler is chief of staff; Dr. Claus G. Jordan is chief surgeon; M. Ada Banks, R.N., is superintendent of nurses and Smith is hospital superintendent.

Parents Object To Air Recruits Flying To Base

MIDDLETOWN, OHIO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Sgt. Marvin T. Hedrick of the Air Force recruiting service, admitted today he can't figure this one out.

He had a group of 20 young men from this area, who had enlisted in the Air Force, so he thought it would be a good idea to have them flown in a group to the Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N.Y.

Arrangements were made to have the boys taken to Cincinnati where they were to board a plane to start for their tour of duty in "the wild blue yonder." Photographers were to have taken pictures of the mass departure.

Then, Sgt. Hedrick reported, he had to call it all off.

The parents of some of the boys objected to them flying.

McCarthy Public Hearings To Start Aug. 30; Radio, TV, Film Coverage Barred

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Full-scale public hearings on the official conduct of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), starting Aug. 30, were ordered today by a special Senate investigating committee.

The committee is considering 46 overlapping charges brought against McCarthy by fellow senators as the basis for a possible Senate vote condemning the Wisconsin senator's actions.

Some of these charges, ranging from alleged abuse of witnesses to inciting government workers to break the law on secret information, probably will be discarded or consolidated with others before the hearings get underway. The six-man committee combed through all of them at a closed session today.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) told a news conference the hearings will be conducted much like a court trial.

McCarthy, or an attorney for him, he said, will have the right to cross-examine witnesses. Rules of evidence used in federal courts will be followed, Watkins said.

Most of these rules are stricter than those of congressional committees.

Members of the committee, the chairman said, will be able to object to any evidence not relevant to the issues before them.

"The testimony will have to be relevant," he said, "it will have to be given by competent witnesses."

Tito Signs 20-Year Pact With Greece, Turkey For Defense Against Soviet Reds

BELED, YUGOSLAVIA, Aug. 9 (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia linked herself indirectly to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today by signing a 20-year military alliance with Greece and Turkey for collective action against aggression.

Marshal Tito's government, which before its ouster from Moscow's cominform fold six years ago was aiding a pro-Kremlin rebellion in Greece, bound itself in the historic new pact to stand with the Greeks and Turks against the threat of aggression from Russia or her Balkan partners.

Foreign ministers of the three nations—Koca Popovic of Yugoslavia, Stephan Stephanopoulos of Greece and Fuad Korpulu of Turkey—signed the alliance in a villa in this resort town which is Tito's summer diplomatic capital. The agreement was hailed abroad as a contribution to defense of the free world.

Greece and Turkey are NATO members, Yugoslavia is not. But by signing the new pact, Tito's regime of national communism agrees to join Greece and Turkey in determining what action should be taken if any NATO member is attacked.

This article of the pact does not commit Yugoslavia to direct participation with armed forces. It says the three nations will "consult on the question of measures which should be undertaken in accordance with the aims of the United Nations to face the situation created in the region" should any NATO member be attacked.

However, this clearly brought Yugoslavia more closely into collaboration with the Western orbit in the cold war.

Half Million Postal Workers Voted 7 Per Cent Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The House today passed with a resounding 315-29 roll call vote an administration-opposed 7 per cent pay hike for half a million post office workers. It sets the minimum boost at $240 a year.

Quick approval came after a heavy lineup of Democrats and Republicans overrode the GOP leadership and forced the measure out of a Rules Committee pigeon-hole, where it had gathered dust for months.

The bill was backed on passage by 181 Democrats, 169 Republicans and 1 Independent. The vote against it was 23 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

Administration leaders predicted the bill will never become law in its present form. They hinted that President Eisenhower would veto it if it is not changed.

It now goes to the Senate, where House members predicted it would be amended to cut the pay boost to 5 per cent and to give civil service workers a similar increase. A separate bill giving civil service employees a 5 per cent hike has been approved by the House.

Kenneth Storm One Of Three Inmates Held

A GUARD was murdered, authorities said, at the State institution in Huntingdon yesterday during an escape attempt by Kenneth Storm, 17 of Monroe County, and two other inmates.

The guard, Charles R. Elder, 57, Saxton, Pa., was in charge of the bakery.

Supt. John D. Pennington said one of the trio, Alfred Nardi, 22, of Paxtang, near Harrisburg, admitted he plunged a butcher knife into Elder's heart.

The guard was also beaten on the head, Pennington added.

Third member of the trio was Lee Richards Robinette, 20, of Alexandria, Huntingdon County.

After Elder was felled, Nardi scaled the institution walls; but guards caught up with him a few minutes later. The other two were captured in the institution yard before they reached the wall.

Pennington said that Nardi will be charged with murder, adding: "If the evidence supports it we shall certainly urge a charge of murder against all three."

An autopsy disclosed the knife wound was the cause of Elder's death. His head also was crushed.

Elder, an employee of the institution for 12 years, was in charge of a detail of 10 inmates at the bakery at the time of the attack. His normal assignment is assistant baker, but he was in charge of the detail on the chief baker's day off.

Describing the attack and attempted escape, Pennington told a reporter:

"They apparently planned to escape. They jumped the guard. They had a butcher knife, a bread knife and weights wrapped up in sheeting."

"One ran up behind Elder and hit him with the weight. Another stabbed him. The other seven inmates stood in a corner terrified."

"The three ran from the bake shop into the yard. Guards picked up two of them in the yard, but Nardi ran down a corridor and got over the wall. Guards picked him up a few minutes later."

Pennington said the guards took a knife from Nardi when they searched him. He said that none of the more than 800 other inmates participated in the outbreak.

Dist. Atty. Merle Heffner, of Huntingdon County, and state police opened an investigation immediately into the outbreak.

In Harrisburg, Arthur T. Prasse, commissioner of correction, said his office was keeping in close touch with the situation.

"It is being investigated and everything is being done that can be done," Prasse told a reporter.

Storm was first brought before the court in Monroe County in 1950 with three other boys classed as delinquent minors.

He was 13 years old.

The juvenile docket at the office of Prothonotary James Gould does not show a disposition for the case.

Next available record on Storm was the notation in the index book at Monroe County Jail, showing the boy was put in the juvenile detention room there Feb. 9, 1951.

He gave a Paradise Valley address at that time. The jail book shows the charge only as "delinquency."

The jail record shows too that Storm was taken to Huntingdon Feb. 14, 1951, "by order of the court." He was 14 then.

Storm was taken by Probation Officer J. Clarence Shafer of Stroudsburg, and committed to the Pennsylvania Institution for Delinquent Delinquents at Huntingdon.

Cannon Fire From Unidentified Jets Peppers Town

BRIDLINGTON, England, Aug. 9 (AP)—A burst of cannon fire from unidentified jet planes shattered the calm of this Yorkshire town today, damaging two houses. No one was hurt.

The Air Ministry cautiously withheld comment on the incident pending "further inquiries." But several witnesses said the planes resembled twin-engine Royal Air Force Meteor jets.

The planes swooped in from the North Sea, presumably from the vicinity of nearby Bridlington Bay where RAF, American and Canadian fighters from six airfields in the northeast of England have an air-to-sea firing range.

Walter Lauds Subversive Control Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) today praised the Subversive Activities Control Board as a fair but effective fighter against Communism and urged the Voice of America to tell the world of its work.

Walter, senior Democrat on the House Un-American Activities Committee, said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record that a recent decision by board member Harry P. Cain regarding the Labor Youth League is a good example of the agency's fairness and effectiveness.

Cain, former Republican senator from Washington, held that the league is a Communist front organization. If the full board agrees with his findings the league will be required, under the Internal Security Act, to register with the attorney general.

Walter said he has "watched with growing anxiety" the controversy that has arisen in this country over the issue of combating communism and expressed disappointment that the unsensational steps taken to fight the Reds receive comparatively little publicity.

The Subversive Activities Control Board "functions without provoking quarrels or controversy," he said, and acts "in strict conformance with our traditions of fair play and equal justice." He added:

"Do our people realize that this doughty little agency has pushed the Communist party to a point where it complains of being forced into suicide?"

"Do our allies abroad realize that amidst all the partisan turmoil over investigations of communism, the one agency empowered to control communism provokes no partisan discord whatever?"

"Shunning sensationalism, scornful of the retaliation smear, the agency applies equal justice, calmly and dispassionately, and it lets its actions speak for themselves."

Walter, who said that "during one of my campaigns $67,000 of the sum raised outside the state against me was traced to this source (the Labor Youth League)," declared that the registration provision is an effective anti-Communist weapon.

He said he is going to introduce a resolution to have Cain's Labor Youth League decision printed as a House document.

Up and down Mt. McKinley in a house dress?

Sounds improbable.

But many a homemaker climbs up and down cellar stairs just about that far each year, tending an old-fashioned water heater!

Leave climbing to the experts . . . get rid of your old-fashioned water heater! Be modern, go electric!

With PP&L's special low water heating rate, you can enjoy work- and worry-free automatic electric water heating for surprisingly little.

In fact many homemakers who have switched to heating water electrically find it far cheaper than their previous old-fashioned methods.

Ticket Sales Extended For Eastburg Festival Of Celebrities

$11,500 Raised To Date For Sunday's Show

TICKET SALES for the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities show to be held on Sunday will continue until Sunday morning, it was decided last night at a meeting of various members of the ticket committee.

Paul Bartholomew, general chairman of the committee, announced following the meeting that only 700 tickets of the original 3,000 remain to be sold, and have been placed in the hands of six people to distribute.

The group of six includes Paul Delaria, C. A. (Phiz) Nauman, Art Cramer, Paul Lloyd, Reg Nauman, president of the Varsity E Club and Jim Riley, sports editor of The Daily Record. This group is handling a total of 500 tickets, while 200 are being held in reserve for out of town calls.

Those in attendance at last night's meeting urged a change in plans which originally listed last Sunday as the final day of sale. Several reasons for the switch were brought forward, chief among which is the fact that a demand for tickets still exists.

The fact that only 700 tickets remain means that the Varsity E Club has raised approximately $11,500 through the four-hour show to be presented at Memorial Stadium on Sunday. The money is being used to purchase a permanent lighting system at Memorial Stadium.

Included in the show cast are Jane Froman, international singing star; Joe Marine, Fred Waring vocalist; Sterling Holloway, Hollywood personality; Tommy Loughran, one of the most famous of light heavyweight fighters; Connie Mack, Mr. Baseball; Ruby Goldstein, probably the number one fight referee in the country today and the famed "Swing's The Thing" golf show directed by Harry Ohlitz, head pro at Shawnee.

There are also a host of other stars scheduled to appear on the program.

The ticket sales were extended by a unanimous vote, but it was also unanimously agreed that there would be no ticket sale at the stadium prior to the show.

Rains Dim Chances For Drought Aid

SOAKING RAINS of the past week have virtually ruled out the chance of Pennsylvania being declared a drought emergency area, a U. S. Agriculture Department official told the Associated Press in Harrisburg yesterday.

"In my opinion we couldn't possibly declare the 21 southeastern counties stricken by the drought emergency areas now," said C. E. Cassell, chief of the U. S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for Pennsylvania.

Monroe, Carbon and Northampton were numbered among the counties a committee of farm experts planned to study to determine effects of this summer's long, disastrous multi-million dollar drought.

Monroe County's total rainfall during July was a scant 1.3 inches. June rainfall was far below the average for other years. Biggest single factor in the drought condition so far, farm agents and soil conservationists believe, was the lack of rain during early Spring.

Yesterday, Cassell declared, "This rain has done wonders for the crops. In one week it has changed the situation altogether."

Cassell is chairman of the committee of state and federal farm experts named to recommend courses of action on the extended drought which parched fields of southeastern counties and caused millions of dollars in damages to crops.

Rainfall Exceeds Inch Here; Aids Farmers, Firefighters But Causes Motor Accidents

YESTERDAY'S RAINFALL, while welcomed by area farmers as another measure of relief to drought-stricken crops, posed a problem to police and motorists alike. Starting at 7:15 a.m., accidents piled up hourly, a number of persons being taken to the General Hospital and hundreds of dollars in damages being done to vehicles.

Stroudsburg State police alone investigated eight accidents, most of them caused by skidding cars on slippery Monroe County roads. A dense fog settling over the area also contributed to the high number of mishaps.

Rain started pelting the Pocosinos at 5 a.m., according to Stroudsburg weather observer Pierre Lake. By last night 1.2 inches of rain had been recorded. Lake said temperature ranged from a low of 61 at 8 a.m. to a high of 65 in mid-afternoon.

Harry E. Greene from his weather station at High Point, Mount Pocono said temperatures there stayed about 60 degrees throughout the day. The rain started at 6 a.m., Greene said, and with the exception of an hour about noon, continued uninterrupted. At 3 p.m. he recorded the precipitation at .5 of an inch. By night it was 1.02 inches.

E. C. Pyle, district forester described the rain as being a big help to the forest fire epidemic which started a month ago. One section near Roseto, burning four weeks, already has spread to 10 acres, Pyle said. At one point, the forester noted, firemen discovered the peat bog burned to a ground depth of six feet.

Trees are falling all over the Bangor Junction burned out area," Pyle said. "It reminds you of a lumbering operation." Firemen from Bangor poured thousands of gallons of water into the small section. But despite the drenching, the underground fire continues to burn. Pyle said it has stopped at points where the smoldering ground struck water. He described that depth as "about 18 inches."

Arthur Ifft, Monroe County agriculture agent termed the rain "wonderful" but said "what we need is two or three days of this steady rain." Ifft said he checked with farmers in the region yesterday. "Most were of the impression the ground was still not ripe for plowing," the farm agent said. "A certain amount of moisture is needed before the hard baked soil is tillable," he added.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg police found themselves confronted with exceptionally heavy traffic throughout the day.

Police said most of it was caused by vacationists coming into the towns to shop and seek other forms of entertainment to break up the drab day.

Officers were on duty at all busy intersections to handle the bumper-to-bumper traffic flow.

Boy's Condition Reported Good

JAMES MARTIN, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, 12 Barry St., Stroudsburg, continues in "good" condition, General Hospital attendants reported last night.

The boy was struck by a truck Friday afternoon at the intersection of Seventh and Ann Sts. Stroudsburg. Operator of the truck, Fred Griffin, 44, of Camden, N. J., was freed under $1,000 on assault and battery with a motor vehicle Sunday.

Barrett Y

Dedication of the new Barrett Branch of the YMCA fills a need for youth in the mountain region of Monroe County—one long needed.

It is particularly impressive in view of the delay involved in getting into operation the central YMCA operation in Stroudsburg which is still tied up in litigation after several months of labor dispute.

Halfway Isn't Enough

Pennsylvanians probably will greet with mixed reaction a report of the Pennsylvania Health Department on narcotics addicts.

"Our state has one of the lowest rates of narcotics addiction in the country," Health Secretary Russell E. Teague says.

In the next breath, he admits that state facilities to treat dope addicts are practically non-existent. There aren't enough of them to warrant spending money to establish separate facilities for their care and cure, he says.

The 1951 Legislature passed a law to provide for care and treatment of dope addicts in state institutions, either voluntarily or by court order. The state treats its handful of dope addicts as mental patients, admitting them to state institutions on this ground. Only one dope addict has been committed for treatment under the 1951 law.

The Real Purposes

In signing the new housing law, President Eisenhower said this:

"It will raise the housing standards of our people, help our communities get rid of slums, and improve their older neighborhoods and strengthen our mortgage credit system."

George Sokolsky Says...

Instead Of Fewer Congressional Checks There Should Be Many More Conducted

The new figures which emerge in so many places these days upon our consciousness and into history were not born yesterday. To understand them it is necessary to search out their past, their ideas as students; their political associations; their training. Only then can we understand who it is with whom we deal because the mature man is only an older boy.

For instance, I have never been able to understand General George Marshall's lack of knowledge of Chinese personalities since he was in Tientsin, as the executive officer of the 15th Infantry, from 1924-27 when he was a lieutenant colonel. This was the period of the union between the Kuomintang and the Communists, leading to the split during Christmas week of 1926-27. These were years of revolution, of civil warfare; of the marching of troops and of protective measures taken by foreign troops; including the 15th Infantry. The United States sent additional Marines to protect American lives and property under General Snedley Butler and some were stationed in Tientsin and nearby Peking. The original leader of the Chinese Communists was Chen Tushu who was replaced by Chu Teh and Mao Tse-tung and Li Shisan. Surely, General Marshall, when he was in Tientsin, read at least the local newspapers printed in English, which gave full accounts of these events. Chou En-lai, when he was in China in those years, lived in Tientsin. Similarly, it is astonishing that Ho Chi Minh is made out to be a man of mystery. In those same years, that is between 1924-27, he spent considerable time with the Chinese Communists in Canton and in the drive northward. His original name was Nguyen Ai Quoc and he is an Annamite. Since boyhood he has been a revolutionist, spending many years abroad in China, England and France. He actually joined the Communist Party in Paris, and was sent to Moscow in 1923 for an indoctrination course which is essential for all Communists who are to become leaders in their own countries. He was, for a time, in 1924, employed in the Soviet consulate in Boston, a position which is to be explained by the fact that many important Communists are citizens not only of their own countries but of Soviet Russia as well. Most of the years between 1924 and 1930, he spent in Asia, principally China and Siam, working for the Revolution.

The Viet Minh movement, which Ho Chi Minh heads, started as a united front operation designed to bring together all elements in Indochina, conservative, liberal, and Communists in an Anti-French effort to end colonialism. It was naturally popular, as the French have always been disliked in Indochina, and received support from many anti-Communist elements. Few realized at first, that it was a Communist movement, directed by the Third International, and that Ho had been especially trained for it.

With such a history, it is difficult to understand why the United States Office of Strategic Services employed Ho Chi Minh as an agent. The OSS was designed to establish a super-intelligence agency to provide our government with correct information on all subjects. How could Ho Chi Minh provide correct information when he was an agent of Soviet Russia, who had worked for the Kremlin in France, the United States, China and Siam, and who had been especially prepared to establish and lead the Communist revolution in Indochina? The OSS has been accused of having been infiltrated by Communists and the CIA has been accused of retaining too many OSS employees.

It is still not too late to study what the OSS actually did during its short existence and to find the reason why Communists were employed by it. General Mark Clark might go into that. Particularly, it would be of some interest to know why such a character as Ho Chi Minh, with a revolutionary history since 1910 when he was 18 years old, was employed by the United States; General "Wild Bill" Donovan may have an explanation and the American people ought to have it.

Instead of fewer Congressional Investigations, we ought to have more of them because it is essential for the American people to know why, when we thought we had won a war in 1945, we know in 1954 that we lost it. Why?

Call For The Cop-On-The-Beat

Every city and town in America is echoing the complaint of New York City's police commissioner that the flabbergasting rise in crime is due in no small measure to the need for more foot policemen "on the beat." Everywhere the cry "Cheese it for the cop!" has vanished because he goes by in an auto before it can be raised. "Take it easy" has disappeared from the vocabulary of the bad actor because he knows the cops are checking parking meters, or directing traffic. It is rare for a hoodlum to see a policeman except in an automobile. There are kids in every neighborhood who have NEVER SEEN A POLICEMAN WALKING.

The strongest agent of law enforcement used to be the foot patrolman. He had to be vigilant, tough, always near and always a triple-threat man. The sense of comfortable aloofness that comes with riding in an auto was not in him. His view of what was going on in the neighborhood was not that of a swiftly moving tourist.

He never had the illusion that police duty meant an exciting experience on the Flying Carpet of Baghdad. He had one complete proof he was on the job—his feet (not his posterior) hurt. The old-fashioned policeman on the beat knew all the teen-agers as neighborhood acquaintances, not as kids seen through a misty windshield or a cloud of dust. He knew every alley as a regular visitor not as a man on a flying trapeze.

He had a nightstick two feet long, not an auto siren. He swung a "billy," not a two-way radio switch. Everybody knew how he looked STANDING UP! No kids jeered at him as he came down the street, huge, wholly visible from head to foot, each "dog" a 3-D feature, and a look on his face that plainly said, "No fooling!" No mugs sneered at him unless they wanted a cracked skull and on hoodlums cried "Let's beat him up!" unless they were tired of living. The cop on the beat was a symbol and a "somebody." He grew bunnions, had all the muscles associated with outdoor exercise and viewed personal combat as nothing requiring gasoline.

He stopped to talk to kids, got to know their parents and was a friend, a counselor and a terror whose footsteps was known and respected, not as a stranger setting speed records between two given points and who knew people only through radio contacts. He was close-up and in touch, never needing a map or a log to find out where he was or where he had been. He was "John Law," not the "auto policeman"; "the cop" not "the police car." He was "Mike" or "Pat" and never "Car Number 456X." Kids took to their heels when they knew he was after them. The sound of his feet walloping the pavement and the sight of his nightstick well in hand had an influence over toughies such as car rarely be exerted by a distant auto siren and a noisy motor.

The automobile cop is okay. He is a necessity. He covers a lot of ground and does a big job bravely. But the cop on foot, his corns hurting, his arches aching and his nightstick dangling is a "must" if the fear of the law is to be put back into the hearts of us all. He shouldn't continue to be listed under the heading "Vanishing Americans."

The House has passed a bill barring a pension to Alger Hiss... Uncle Sam is an easy mark, but it is too much to expect him to make weekly payments to anybody who tried to get him to stand on a trapdoor... Yes, there is a dogcatcher's union, believe it or not...

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Humans Will Forever Try To Break Oddest Records

Two world shaking new records have been established in one day, and I sincerely hope that no one will try to emulate them in the near or distant future.

In Key Largo, Florida, not far from Miami, a "skin diver," by the name of Ed Fisher (we might as well give him a little publicity), camped on the ocean floor for a full 24 hours, thereby establishing the world endurance record for staying on the ocean floor longer than anybody else.

I haven't the slightest idea what the record means. I can't see where anything of scientific value has been established, except perhaps the testing of a new "aqualung" or that there is a great sporting feat involved. I cannot, for the life of me, anticipate that a lot of others will hereafter try to break the record, because camping on ocean floors has not as yet been established as a legitimate American sport.

According to the report, Fisher's skin was blue and wrinkled like a prune when he emerged, and his head ached, "but he and his surface associates were jubilant."

For a while, the account says, Fisher, who is 26, thought he wouldn't make it. It got mighty cold during the night and over-friendly fish took nibbles on him. Once a shark, described by him in two boats above him as "half as big as a submarine," swam slowly overhead, eyed Fisher, shrugged its shoulders and swam away.

He stepped on a sea urchin and was stung severely by the living pincushion. He drank soup while down below (don't ask me how), and for breakfast shot a fish with his water spear, sliced it and ate it raw. I want to call your attention to the fact that this is NOT a Miami press agent's story. It came directly from an honest-to-goodness, reliable press association.

So much for Ed Fisher. On to the next record which, I hope, will also long stand unique in the annals of American sports.

A fellow by the name of George Hopper, described as "a water-logged meat packer from East St. Louis," swam the Hudson River in New York, his wrists handcuffed behind him and while pulling a canoe with two men in it.

The journey took him six miles up river on a strong incoming tide before he reached the Jersey shore opposite the city of Yonkers. The swim took him two hours 52 minutes. At its end Hopper said that he "was hungry and tired, sore in the shoulders, but proud of his accomplishment."

When asked why he undertook the feat, he said that he thought he might attract an invitation for a paid television appearance.

Which, in view of the quality of the summer television programs, seems like quite a possibility.

When I was a little kid we used to see who, among us, could stand on his head the longest.

Nothing was ever accomplished by it but it used to make us very proud to have the record.

"Record"—what a magic word, and how many foolish things are undertaken in its name. I guess as long as there are two human beings left in this world, one will try to outdo the other in something or other. That may be one of the things that makes life interesting.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

It's getting tougher every day for a poor author to earn an honest buck. Editor John Huthers, for instance, spotted Ted Peckham, who wrote "Grandma Rolled Her Own," actually selling flowers on a corner in the Times Square district one evening! Seems that Peckham had just guested on a radio program and been gifted unceremoniously with a ten-dollar spray of orchids. He patiently peddled them, one by one, netted two bucks for his pains, and contentedly headed for the nearest bar.

Jackie Gleason recently underwent a minor operation; then had so many visitors crowding into his room that an exasperated nurse finally told Guest Number 192, "I think Mr. Gleason's check-out of the hospital and gone home. He wasn't feeling well."

National Motorists' new definition for a radio announcer is "a fellow who talks until you have a headache, then tries to sell you something to relieve it."

And it requires falsification of other way.

The look the girls have now is pretty nice. It's called the "second look."

Britain Will Join With Southeast Asia Alliance

Washington—The long-discussed Southeast Asia anti-aggression alliance will be a reality by September 1.

Britain will join this crucial pact.

Other participants will be France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, Pakistan and Malaysia.

India and Indonesia will remain aloof. Burma is still on the fence.

Authority for this optimistic forecast is Undersecretary of State W. Bedell Smith. He voiced it during an informal talk with top congressional leaders.

The soldier-diplomat who carried the main American load at the recent Geneva conference, told the legislators that private high-level negotiations on the Southeast Asia alliance has been under way for some time and an agreement is expected by September 1.

The treaty will be patterned after NATO, and like it will be both military and economic.

"All are fully aware that time is of the essence," said Smith, "and we have the highest hopes of reaching an understanding by September 1."

"Aren't you rather optimistic on such an early date," Smith was asked. "How are you going to get the British to sign up?"

"They have already informally agreed," replied Smith. "Australia and New Zealand insisted on British participation and they got results. They were of tremendous help in overcoming British reluctance."

Details of the forthcoming accord, as outlined by Smith, cannot be divulged for security reasons. But the basic purpose of the alliance is to put an end to Communist aggression and to build up the military and economic strength of the free South-east Asian nations.

The anti-Red defense line will be predicated largely on that advocated by Secretary of State Dulles.

As reported in this column August 5, Dulles disclosed this line during a discussion with a group of senators. He described it as follows:

"We hope to be able to draw a line which will run north of Burma, include all of Laos and Cambodia, and Vietnam south of the 17th Parallel, which now divides that country. The degree to which the last three countries can participate in an alliance is in doubt under the cease-fire terms. But there is nothing which prevents us from drawing our own defense line."

"By that I mean not only the U.S. I mean the group of countries we are trying to bring together into a Southeast alliance—Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand, to start with. We hope to bring in others later. But with the former, we can draw a line on which we can say that any transgression of this line will be something against which we will all act together."

Untold History—Pakistan was all set to send troops to fight the Communist invasion of South Korea, but was prevented from doing that by India.

India accomplished this by massing two divisions on the Kashmir border and threatening to seize this bitterly contested section. Confronted with this danger, Pakistan was forced to keep its troops at home.

The result was that through this diversionary maneuver, "neutral" India gave important military help to the Reds.

This sensational inside story was related by Senator Richard Russell, Ga., ranking Democratic member of the Armed Services Committee, during a sharp argument with Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen over including India in that program.

Stassen vigorously defended giving India aid on the ground it is necessary to avert Communism. Russell retorted with his account of how India assisted the Reds.

"Your argument," he told Stassen, "assumes there is no alternative to Nehru, and that unless we put money in India, it will fall into the hands of the Communists. I challenge that argument. We aren't the only people who have a stake in India. The British have a big stake there. To my mind, we should let them take care of the Indian problem."

"I can't forget that when the war started in Korea, Pakistan was one of the first countries that offered to send troops there. That would have been of incalculable help to us, because Pakistan is an Asian nation. But India intervened. Pakistan was notified that if it sent a brigade to Korea, India would move into Kashmir. And to make good that threat, India mobilized two divisions on the Kashmir border. If that wasn't an act of armed aggression against the United Nations, I don't know what is."

Stassen admitted that India has been obstructive and unfriendly at times.

"But notwithstanding our disappointments," he argued, "we feel it is in the interests of the U.S. to assist India to keep out of Communist control. If India does not improve its economic lot, it could become a second Red China. That would, indeed, be a terrible blow to the U.S. and the free world."

400,000th Blue Cross Case Here

—by H. G. Heller

When Anson Cramer, Saylorburg R. D. 1, recently received a bill from General Hospital he paid $3.

Anson was happy, to say the least, for the bill had amounted to $145.60. The answer was that Blue Cross paid the balance.

It turned out to be more than the ordinary transaction because it represented Case No. 400,000 for the Hospital Service Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

There was a bit of a ceremony at International Boiler Works where Mr. Cramer is employed. Joe Boyle, Blue Cross and Blue Shield representative, James M. Kester, personnel manager of I. B. W. and general foreman John W. Phillips participated in the ceremony honoring Case No. 400,000.

Actually, it was nothing new to Mr. and Mrs. Cramer and their 13 children, eight of whom still are protected under a "family" agreement date 1946.

Mr. Cramer notes that Blue Cross has saved his family close to $1,200 in hospital bills since the 1946 agreement. Addition of Blue Shield in 1950, has meant saving in doctor bills, too.

Case No. 400,000 involving the Cramer family raised the question of how much all Blue Cross members in Northeastern Pennsylvania have saved in hospital bills.

It develops that during the first six months of this year these savings have approached the $3 million mark. It was also discovered that another milestone was achieved—admissions in June attained the all-time high of 6,829. Savings involved here ran close to $1 million.

Delving deeper we find an operating cost of seven cents of each Blue Cross dollar has been maintained, currently leaving almost 93 cents for payment of bills of the magnitude represented by facts above.

How do the hospitals feel about Blue Cross?

Best answer to that is found in renewed approval of the American Hospital Association.

Received this past March, the certificate of approval authorizes continued operation as a fully-approved "Blue Cross Plan."

Now if Congress would only adopt the Eisenhower Plan to "insure" wider participation in this and some 82 other non-profit plans the health and economy of the nation would improve over night.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, here we had the rainy day we've all been begging for and nobody seemed to know quite what to do with it, especially on wash day. Umbrellas, after they'd finally been found, were dusty and cobwebby, and nobody remembered where they'd put those little plastic raincoats they'd been saving for just such a rainy day.

Vacationers arriving bag and baggage weren't too cheered by the oft-repeated comments of the natives "First real rain we've had all summer", especially since it looked as if it might go on raining indefinitely.

The dogs, at first delighted with the wet stuff coming down, soon wanted to come in but were so wet and smelly that you had to put them out again — and everytime somebody went in or out they'd come bounding back in, and you'd put them out, ad infinitum.

By the time somebody remembered that the lawn chair pillows had been left out they were a soggy mess. The rain gutters, so long unused, were clogged with leaves and spilled over to splash on the porch.

Only thoroughly happy people were the mothers of young babies who found that the rhythmic sound of the rain and the unaccustomed dimness prolonged the nap-time for another blissful half hour, and the farmers who could stand in the barn and watch the thirsty fields guzzle.

Thorough Work Is Assured

SOCIOLOGISTS tell us that modern day Americans have more leisure time than ever before.

But the average homeowner might be prone to doubt this when he makes a mental list of all he has to do on a "free" weekend.

The cellar needs cleaning, the house needs painting and the family car could use a good coat of wax.

Johnson's Amoco Service, N. Fifth St., near Phillips, probably can't help you out on most of these problems, but they can solve that car shining problem.

When you take your car to Johnson's for a wax job, you really get a thorough job. They wash your car first, clean off all road film, rub on a heavy wax coating, and when that's finished they start all over again and give it a second coat of wax.

This last operation is what's important to you as a car owner. This is what makes a good wax job last. But Johnson's will go even further if you prefer.

Later on, about a month later when the paste wax has thoroughly hardened, they'll give your car a final coating of liquid wax.

This acts as a permanent seal, and will keep your car shining brightly. In fact, Johnson's claim it probably won't have to be waxed again.

Heat Affects Wiring

Electric wires in cables running near a heating plant may fail because the heat causes the insulation on them to dry out and crack. Coat cables in these warm areas with asbestos cement.

Goodrich Lifesavers Were First

SEVERAL TIRE manufacturers are now introducing their own tubeless tire designs.

The very fact that these new tires were not announced until recently once more emphasizes the B. F. Goodrich slogan: "First in Rubber."

Because of its never-ending research, B. F. Goodrich has now accumulated a long list of "firsts" in the industry.

Most recent example is the famous BFG Lifesaver Tubeless tire, developed and offered the motoring public six years ago. In fact, the B. F. Goodrich company celebrated the Lifesaver's sixth anniversary by a big, nationwide selling event last month.

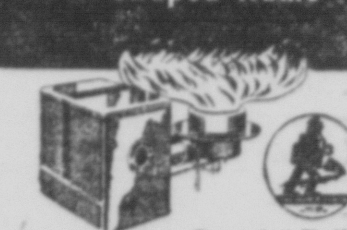

Edgar Van Why, manager of the local BFG store, 735 Main St., next to Colonial Diner, says if you long to be free of tire worries, change to B. F. Goodrich Lifesavers.

"Lifesavers will give you new driving peace-of-mind," he emphasizes, "and change blowouts to slowouts."

Seals Punctures: A layer of sealant rubber under the tread grips puncturing objects. Hole is sealed when object is removed.

RILEY

Sports Editor

Stroudsburg Speedway opened its doors for a short run on Sunday night, a run that will carry through the balance of the current season. If the venture proves successful in the few short weeks ahead, a Monroe County's only active racing surface will present programs next season such as have never been witnessed at any of the three tracks that have operated from time to time within the boundaries of this county.

Using Sunday's program as an example, it appears as if the present management at the local track is here to stay. The dustless, dirt track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport has been closed for over a month for repairs, but on the short notice of one week the track was able to draw a field of nearly 30 cars, 21 of which operated in the feature. It was also able to lure a crowd of more than 1,000 people to its entrance gate. This type of drawing power pounds home the fact that Stroudsburg Speedway must have something to offer.

There were more cars and at least as many people present on Sunday as there was at anytime during the first two months of operation under a different management this season. Such great drivers as Harry Charles, Freddie Fehr, Ken Wisner, Chet Fehr, Jackie Burgstesser, Dave Rapp, Clyde Pittinger, "Smookey" Lippincott, Ken Rapp, Ted Testa and Clyde Snydam, who formerly raced for Liberty Stock Car Association only, now have taken on an independent status and will run at Stroudsburg Speedway, where open competition will be featured each Sunday.

Other drivers known throughout the east who will be present each week are Joe Romer, Russ Dodd, Ray Brown, George Romer and a host of others. With this type driver appearing each week, Stroudsburg Speedway can't help but offer the best in stock car racing. Harry Charles, Easton's gift to the stock car racing world, has won four events at Stroudsburg Speedway this season. But it's a safe bet that Harry will find the going much tougher in the future, as the rest of the guys mentioned above would rather win than eat.

Since the track is featuring open competition, it means that any driver, with any type car, is now eligible to compete. John Smith, Stroudsburg, was the only driver in the field last Sunday, but more are almost certain to follow. The trend, more outstanding drivers will appear each week, as the fame of the track spreads by word of mouth. The grandstand will be completely painted by next Sunday and all sorts of repairs will be made from week to week for the balance of the season.

Stroudsburg Speedway plans to present a giant fireworks demonstration during the termination of next Sunday's racing program, while "Fish" Moran and his Hell Drivers will put on a show at the local track a week from tomorrow. A wild west rodeo will appear here for two days later in the month and all sorts of special programs are on the agenda of the track. Extra shows add to the color, but little is needed as Stroudsburg Speedway appears destined to offer the best in stock car racing.

Speaking of special events brings to mind the fact that the Pocono Mountains League will feature its all-star game under the lights at Gordon Giffels Field on Friday night. It will be the first night baseball game at the local ball park in several years. Members of the Little League and Babe Ruth League of the Stroudsburgs are reminded that they will be admitted to the contest free of charge, providing they are in uniform.

Si Bernosky, former basketball captain at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, was recently named head coach mentor at Monroe High School, replacing Don Manning who played on the same ESSTC team with Bernosky. Manning, following outstanding success at Monroe, returns to his alma mater, Roxbury High School, at Kenville, N. J. Manning's Monroe teams won three Eastern Susquehanna County League titles and three District 12 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association crowns.

Bernosky has coached at Hightstown High for the past five years. Al Kassner is no longer manager of the Ananoknik entry in the Pocono Mountains League, having turned over the position to Bob Schuonover. One of the four straight wins registered by Ray Steele, former E. Stroudsburg High star, in the class "C" Provincial League was a two-hitter against Three Rivers. His Drummondville mates pounded out a 1-0 victory.

Dimmick To Coach Eastburg Junior High Football

Returns To Position Held In Past Years

LESTER W. Dimmick, a resident of 705 Milford Road, will coach football at East Stroudsburg Junior High school this season, it was announced last night by Theodore Miller, principal of East Stroudsburg Junior High.

Dimmick, veteran football personality, will be returning to a position he held until three years ago when Mike Evans took over both football and basketball at the school.

Evans, who teaches geography and social studies, will retain the basketball position.

Dimmick introduced football to East Stroudsburg Junior High School and turned out a number of successful teams, several with undefeated records.

Les, highly respected in area football circles, teaches mathematics.

The new appointment takes effect with the opening of school for the Autumn term.

Landy Denies Report Of Cut

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 9 (AP)—The Vancouver Sun said tonight that John Landy, the Australian whirlwind, was treated for a deep gash in the sole of his right foot last Thursday, two days before he lost the "miracle mile" of the British Empire Games to England's Roger Bannister.

The Sun quoted Dr. Kenneth Young of the University of British Columbia Health Service as saying he treated a "nasty gash" on Landy's foot Thursday and again Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Young was quoted as saying Landy made a terrific effort to walk naturally the last three days and only began to limp after the race, blaming it on a blister Landy said he suffered in the race.

The Sun and Dr. Young acted under a strict blackout clamped on news of the cut on Landy's foot at the orders of Jim Eve, Australian team manager for the BEG.

Landy repeatedly denied reports of the injury, including a denial issued tonight, saying he suffered only a blistered heel and that the blister developed during the race. "I don't know how that report got out or how anybody could use his imagination to such an extent," Landy said of the Sun's report. "It is completely and utterly silly to think that I or anybody could run with four stitches in the foot. There is absolutely nothing to it."

Terry Steals Show At Formal Entry Into Baseball's Hall Of Fame At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—The Hall of Fame "got" Bill Terry today, as it had mellowed others in the past, and the man who used to feud with the writers almost broke down at the dedication of plaques to the nine new members.

Before Terry spoke, Bill Dickey had told the crowd, "This was the nicest thing that ever happened to me." The audience, spreading across main street from the shadow of a friendly maple to the steps of the Post Office, listened attentively while Commissioner Ford Frick called the roll of the men to be honored.

DISCUSSION—Four well known figures in the world of sports are shown above discussing the many outstanding aspects of the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities, a four-hour show, to be staged at Memorial Stadium on Sunday. The group, in a clockwise direction, consists of Steve Owen, former coach of the New York Giants pro football team; Ben Carnevale, head basketball coach at Navy; Harry Obitz, head golf pro at Shawnee, and Jerry Stulgaitis, head football and basketball coach at Stroudsburg High. Verona, Portuguese Begin Ring Drills At Harry's Farm Today

COLUMBIA, N.J. — Two promising welterweights launch boxing drills here at Harry's Farm today and will continue until Saturday, August 21.

The twosome consists of "Chico" Verona, currently ranked sixth among the world's welterweights, and Tuzo "Kid" Portuguese, one of the top veteran campaigners in the welterweight ranks.

Verona, who drilled here recently with Nino Valdes, number two challenger among the heavyweights, is scheduled to battle Frank Fernandez, welterweight champion of Honolulu, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, on Monday, August 23.

Portuguese is slated to battle tough Holly Mims in the main event at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday, August 25.

Both Verona and Portuguese, like Valdes, are managed by Bobby Gleason and trained by Jack Friday.

Jimmy Carter, former lightweight champion who gained great popularity while training here last month, arrives on the scene again today to begin preparation for a return bout with Paddy DeMarco, in which Carter hopes to capture the lightweight crown for the third time.

Cecil Brion, heavyweight champion of Argentina, begins training here next Monday.

Harry's Farm is located five miles from the new Delaware Water Gap bridge on the shores of the Delaware River.

Cartier, Olla Scrap To Draw

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—Walter Cartier of New York, and Ted Olla, Milwaukee, battled to a draw in a bruising 16-round main event tonight at Eastern Parkway Arena. Both weighed 162 pounds.

The 23-year-old Olla, making his Eastern debut, was penalized the seventh round for a low blow. The Wisconsin middleweight rallied throughout the late rounds with a hooking attack to the head and body.

It was a hard fought contest with Cartier holding a slight edge at the midway mark because of his superior infighting.

There were no knockdowns. Cartier hurt Olla in the third round with a left hook to the head. Olla scored with long range rights to the head and kept winging left hooks to Cartier's body.

Eastburg Little League In Action

CRAMER'S Lumber and Methodists clash in the East Stroudsburg Little League today, at 6:30 p.m. Last night's scheduled contest between Heller - Owen - Howell and National Bank was washed out by the books by rain.

empire and discoverer of Honus Wagner; Bill Klem, "the old arbitrator" who was "Mr. Umpire" for years, and Harry Wright, manager of the old Cincinnati Red Stockings and Boston Braves, all are dead.

Tommy Connolly, recently retired umpire in chief of the American League, and Bobby Wallace, for 60 years an infielder, pitcher and manager, were too ill to attend.

Doby Big Reason For Tribe's Success

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Larry Doby, Cleveland's soft-spoken outfielder, is making a lot of noise with his big bat as the Indians threaten the New York Yankees' five year supremacy in the American League.

Doby, one of the prime candidates for his circuit's most valuable player award, produced several vital blows last week while Cleveland built its pace - setting margin to four games over the Yankees and seven over the third place Chicago White Sox.

Four of Larry's hits were home runs giving the 29-year-old lefty batter from Paterson, N. J., the league lead with 26. He also drove in 11 runs to take over sole possession of the top spot in that department with 89.

Doby, who has played in every one of Cleveland's 110 games, also has starred afield, making only two errors in 322 chances.

Showing a .283 batting average with 119 safeties in 420 trips, Larry's chances of winning the triple crown appear remote, however.

Irv Noren, the Yankees' versatile outfielder, continues as the leading batter with a .339 mark although he slumped 11 points last week.

Minnie Mino of the White Sox moved to within 12 points of Noren at .327. Nellie Fox of Chicago is third with .322.

In the National League, Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers maintained a comfortable lead, collecting eight hits in 26 trips which left him with a .354 average.

Stan Musial, in a good position to challenge for his seventh batting title, is second with .339. He batted in 10 runs last week to lift his league-leading total to 104.

A five point decrease tumbled Don Mueller of the New York Giants from second place to third at .338.

Willie Mays of the Giant's continued as the National League's home run leader with 36, although he hasn't hit for the distance since July 25.

Williams Hit By Rule Book

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Ted Williams determined bid for a fifth American League batting title is doomed to fail unless baseball's rules committee modifies a stringency rule that is a distinct handicap to the Boston Red Sox outfielder.

The tall, lean slugger has suffered all sorts of adversities in his 15 years with the Red Sox but he still is the most devastating hitter in baseball.

Despite a fractured collarbone and a siege of bronchitis that sidelined him for 38 games this season, Williams' batting eye remains undimmed. Through Sunday's doubleheader, Ted is batting .353, good enough to lead the New York Yankees' Irv Noren, the American League's second best hitter, by 34 points.

Yet, there is little likelihood of Williams winning the batting title—even if he should maintain his present superiority over the rest of the league's hitters. Under the rules, a batter must have 400 official times at bat to be eligible for a batting title. The word "official" is the fly in the ointment.

Barring further injury or illness, Ted is certain to reach the required 400 at bats, provided bases on balls counted as official times at bat. Unfortunately for Ted, they do not.

Wong Loses First Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Danny Jo Perez of New York stopped Dickie Wong of Honolulu in 2:07 of the second round tonight to hand the Hawaiian the first defeat of his career. Wong weighed 138½, Perez, 139.

A flashing left hook to the jaw rocked the 22-year-old Islander and a right to the chin sent him flat on his face.

Wong tried to get up at four, tumbled backward and then got on his feet at nine.

But as Perez charged in for the kill, Wong staggered backward and before Perez could close in, Referee Petey Scalzo halted the scrap.

Wong, winner of all 13 of his pro fights, had displayed a fine left hook to win the first. He was ahead in the second round, too, until he ran into the solid hook.

God for it. It is a distinct honor to be here and a part of the Hall of Fame.

Group To Bid For A's Today

By Ralph Bernstein
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9 (AP)—A former seat cushion salesman at the ball park hopes to open negotiations tomorrow that will bring his 16-plus group control of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Harry Sylk, 51, a drug chain executive, will join with Philadelphia financier Albert M. Greenfield in talks with Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics. Sylk and Greenfield head a group of more than 16 civic leaders seeking to keep the American League franchise from being sold to out-of-town interests.

Roy Mack, his brother and partner, Earle, and his dad, the venerable Connie Mack Sr., have their backs against the wall.

After 54 years of operating the Athletics the Mack family face either sale of the club or possible bankruptcy. To quote Earle, there isn't a dime in the till and the Macks are done in Philadelphia.

Sale of the club appears to be the only answer and the buyer could be either the Sylk group or Arnold Johnson, a Chicago businessman who wants to move the team to Kansas City. Johnson reportedly has offered the Macks' 4½ million dollars for the franchise.

Sylk, an energetic executive who likes to remember watching the A's play in between selling seat cushions when he was a kid, says he has been encouraged by a flood of mail over the weekend.

most of it urging him to go ahead with his plans to buy the ball club. He says he has received several offers of stock purchases from fans.

"A mailman, for example, wants to buy $100 worth of stock," he said.

Asked how much he planned to offer the Macks for the franchise, Sylk said that would depend on what the books show. He expects to get a full financial report from Roy to look over.

He said flatly he didn't believe Johnson had offered 4½ million dollars for the team.

"I can't believe Johnson offered that kind of money for this team. We're prepared to make a fair offer for the Athletics, not a fantastic one," Sylk said.

Pilots Disagree On Braves' Flag Chances

By Will Grimsley
NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, who fled town today with their second straight series sweep from the first place New York Giants, are the hottest team in the National League at the moment.

Seven and a half games off the lead, can they bridge the gap in the next seven weeks?

"Yes," says Manager Charley Grimm of the Braves. "We're playing at our peak."

"No," says Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants. "They can't keep up the pace."

"Maybe," adds Walter Alston of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. "They looked good against us. They must have looked good against the Giants. You can't count them out."

"Yes," says Bobby Thomson, the former Giant outfielder now with the Braves. "The boys are the 1951 Giants' team which overcame a 12½ game lead in the season's late stages to tie Brooklyn for the pennant and he hit the dramatic home run which clinched the championship in the third game of the playoff."

"I know the feeling of a team that gets hot and goes on to win it all," Thomson said before departing with his teammates. "I think this team has the feeling."

Durocher, showing no outward concern over the shortened three-game space between the Giants and Brooklyn, said the Braves started too late and, besides, have two teams to beat instead of one. "When they cool off, the Braves are going to find many games yet to make up," he added.

Jonaire Kennels Capture New Honors In Lake Mohawk Show

MOUNT POCONO — Jonaire Kennels, owned by Claire and John Specht and located just north of this borough, added to its long list of laurels when three of its Miniature Schnauzers won ribbons at the recent Lake Mohawk Dog Show, at Newton, N.J.

Jonaire Pocono High Life, male Miniature Schnauzer bred and owned by the Spechts, captured a blue ribbon in the open class, then went to winners' male and best of winners for three points.

This makes High Life's third consecutive win as best of winners, the other two shows being at Oneonta, N.Y., on July 4, and at Mount Pelier, Vt., on July 18. He needs only three more points to complete his championship title.

Novice Jonaire Buckle's Rough Stuff, a male, and Wilkern Middle Marie, female, captured blue ribbons in novice classes against reportedly tough competition.

Moore Favored Over Johnson

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Harold Johnson celebrated his 28th birthday as the odds tightened for his 15-round title fight with light heavyweight champion Archie Moore at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

Moore had been 2-1 and higher almost since the long-sought match was made. But strong home town support for the Philadelphia challenger dropped the odds favoring the 37½-year-old champ to 8-5 today.

It could be that Johnson's birthday pointed up the wide difference in the ages of the two gladiators. While Archie hasn't shown any outward signs of slipping, his three title fights have been against Joey Maxim and the Cleveland cutesy is no rookie.

Maxim (now 32) never was a speed demon afoot and he let Moore set his own pace in their three title scraps.

If Johnson was an aggressive fighter he probably would be the choice to take the capable champion. But like Maxim, he is a counterpuncher who prefers to have his opponent do the leading.

Yankees Rally To Sink Reds In Exhibition

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Willie Miranda's infield single, his second hit of a six-run rally in the ninth inning, gave the New York Yankees a 10-9 victory over Cincinnati today in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game at Doubleday Field.

A capacity crowd of 8,805, seeing its first "big league ball" of the season, was treated to a rousing contest as the Yankees fought back from a 9-1 deficit to forge ahead in the ninth.

It wasn't over yet for Cincinnati as they loaded the bases on two walks and Bobby Adams' single in the last of the ninth before Martin Stuart, third, Yankee pitcher, struck out Nino Escalera to end it.

Mickey Mantle hit a first inning homer on the roof of a house behind the left field fence and Bob Cerv smacked one over the center-field wall with Mantle on base in the eighth.

A total of 26 hits rolled to all corners of the park where baseball supposedly was born.

Marcantonio, Former Left-Wing Congressman, Fatally Stricken On Rainswept N.Y. Street

By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, 51, a noisy, colorful left wing congressman during his 14 years on Capitol Hill, dropped dead on the street today.

He always denied he was a Communist, although he said he was not beyond taking their political support.

His heart failed him as he plodded through a drenching summer rainstorm toward his Lower Manhattan law office. He had been diabetic for years.

Marcantonio, short, wiry and dark-complexioned, gave up his long time leadership of the leftist American Labor party last year. A month ago he punched a comeback bid to run for Congress this fall as an independent.

A protégé of the late Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, Marcantonio began his congressional career in 1934 as a Republican. Over the years he also had Democratic backing on occasions, although both parties finally shook him off their backs.

In 1950, the two major parties combined with the Liberal party to defeat Marcantonio. Rep. James G. Donovan succeeded him in his East Harlem district and was re-elected in 1952.

Donovan again received the Democratic and Republican designations for the fall election. However, Marcantonio's death may change the picture since some elements of the Democratic party are bitterly opposed to Donovan.

William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party, issued a statement on Marcantonio's death in which he said: "The death of Vito Marcantonio comes as a great shock and personal loss to every fighter for peace and democracy. Marcantonio's active life has been one of tireless activity and endless devotion to the cause of the workers, the Negro people and the oppressed generally. His record in Congress is the best ever made by a Labor representative in that body.

"In the passing of Marcantonio the American people have lost one of their best and most fearless leaders."

Political opponents often blamed Marcantonio for the plight of many Puerto Ricans who have come to New York. He was pictured as importing them in great numbers, berthing them on relief and then cornering their votes in his district.

In reply on many occasions, Marcantonio pointed out that Puerto Ricans are Americans and not foreigners and as entitled to come to New York as is any resident of, say, New Jersey.

Marcantonio, son of an Italian-born mother and a first generation Italian-American father, was born in New York.

At the age of 18 he organized a Harlem tenants fight and his voice seldom was lowered for the rest of his life.

Joint School Board Headed By Stoddard

BANGOR—First meeting of the Bangor Area Joint School System was held here last night. It comprises school districts of Bangor and Roseto.

Davis Stoddard of Bangor was elected president; Anthony Sabetti, Roseto, vice-president; Marvin DePamphilis, Bangor, treasurer; Remyer Speer, Bangor, secretary; and Edmund Turzto, Bangor, solicitor.

First Wednesday of each month was set as the meeting date. The entire boards of Roseto and Bangor will meet with the joint committee quarterly.

Committees appointed by Stoddard: education, Dr. Nicholas Cascario, Cornell Wallwork and Sabetti; property, De Pamphilis, Frank De Paolo, and Quintus LaBar; athletics, LaBar, Wallwork, De Pamphilis; finance, Wallwork, Cascario, Sabetti; supplies, Sabetti, Cascario and LaBar.

Stoddard named a special committee to meet with Turzto and draw articles of agreement. They are Philip Keenan, chairman, Merle Mabius and Joseph Menegola.

Operation will be started under the new budget system Sept. 1. Finance committee will review budgets of Bangor and Roseto schools, then set up the joint school budget. Donald B. Keat, superintendent, reviewed the criteria subject to approval by the State, to gain the $500 per-unit increase under jointure.

Four of the 13 points in the classification were referred to the education committee. The system is from kindergarten through 12th grade.

Keats was instructed to set up a school calendar. A 190-day term was approved, and directors decided two of the vacation dates always held in Roseto but never in Bangor—Columbus Day and Veterans Day—would be declared official holidays on the new calendar.

Teachers' salary schedules were referred to the finance committee. Room assignments were relegated to the education committee.

The officers voted to dispense with teachers attending the county institute's spring session in Pen Argyl.

It was voted to allow teachers to attend the PSEA convention in Allentown Oct. 8 at their own expense. Resignation of Robert E. Doney, Pen Argyl, was accepted. He served as an supervisor. He will serve now in Bethlehem schools for a reported $600 pay increase.

A special meeting will be held Aug. 18 at 7:30 to further jointure plans.

The funeral cortege formed outside the Dionne's yellow brick Georgian mansion in Callender for the drive to the Corbel church. The procession of 50 automobiles was met at the door of the church by Father LaFrance and five altar boys.

Six pallbearers, wearing light gray suits and black neckties, preceded the casket into the church. Four of the pallbearers were Emilie's brothers, Ernest, Daniel, Victor and Oliver Jr. The other two were brothers-in-law, Maurice Girouard and Thomas Callahan of Espanola, Ont.

Emilie's father, 51-year-old Oliva Dionne, and his black-gowned wife, walking on either side of their youngest son, 7-year-old Claude, followed the casket. The immediate family and close relatives occupied the first seven rows of pews in the center of the church.

The casket was in the nave of the church. It was draped in a gold and black shroud and flanked by six large black-and-gold candles.

A choir of about 25 young girls of the district, some of whom had been the quintuplets' schoolmates, assisted in the requiem mass, which lasted about 40 minutes.

Other masses at the side altars were offered for Emilie's salvation.

From the church, as the bells tolled, the funeral cortege wound slowly down a mile and a half of country dirt road to the little cemetery, where the freshly dug grave was in readiness. Corbel parish has no official grave diggers and each family must prepare its own interment plot.

The sorrowful task fell to Alme Maraske, a graying uncle of the quintuplets. He dug a grave near the final resting places of Emilie's infant grandfathers.

Father LaFrance and three altar boys, carrying a cross and candles, met the funeral cortege as it filed into the cemetery. Emilie's parents restrained their grief but her quintuplet sisters shook with sobs.

Forrest Miller, of U.S. Navy, is spending a leave at his home here. Gladys Dyson is improving at the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg where she has been a patient for five weeks.

FOR TUESDAY, AUG. 10, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Don't be over-critical or reactionary. Produce new ideas. Try improved methods in your business or professional activities. Use your natural gifts wisely and gain merit.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—A happy medium period. Take ample time to study each problem, handle each in the order of its importance and you will achieve your day's goal. Meet obligations cheerfully.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Be as consistent in personal affairs as you generally are in business. Be conscientious, cautious signing notes, loans, papers. However, everyday duties should click with proper handling.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Not an entirely stimulating day for new and untried propositions. You may encounter some opposition from unexpected sources. Take it calmly, intelligently. Heads up; a clear mind needed.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Be extra careful about taking suggestions or following other's ideas for the handling of your problems. Each to his own; what is good for one may not be for another. Make haste slowly.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—You may have to make important decisions on far in your chosen field. Be sure you have all the details, know all the angles. Avoid unpleasant discussions, needless worry.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Look first, then move cautiously, but with confidence, this midday uncertain day. In the job run you will profit by these smart methods. Check health needs, don't rush things.

Mementoes Taken From Dionne Grave

CORBEL, Ont., Aug. 9 (AP)—Souvenir hunters at the funeral of Emilie Dionne stirred the wrath of the parish priest who officiated today.

"Have you no respect for the dead?" the Rev. W. H. LaFrance demanded as visitors began plucking bouquets from the floral tributes at Emilie's grave.

Former schoolmates of the quintuplet started the rush for the mementoes by plucking a few of the flowers. When others in the large throng joined in, the priest ordered them to stop.

Gilbert Fair To Be Open Two Nights

GILBERT—For the first time in the 23-year history of the West End Fair the grounds will open to the public the night before the one-day fair.

Maurice Kresge, president, said last night the show will open the night of Tuesday, Aug. 24, then continue all day Wednesday.

A meeting is scheduled for 8 tonight to hear final committee reports. Kresge said modern rest rooms have been added for this year's production.

Officials also have decided to eliminate the horse exhibition, and will utilize the building for vocational agriculture students to display their products.

Last week workers made a half-ton of sauer kraut in preparation for the event. About 20 bushels of cabbage were used, Kresge estimated.

Another innovation this year is the new deadline to enter exhibits. Kresge said all exhibits, excepting livestock, must be registered by 8 p.m. Tuesday to qualify for the judging which begins Wednesday morning.

Entertainment the first night will be provided by the West End Community band. Wednesday night the famed Allentown Band will be featured.

Assisting Kresge as fair officials are Lloyd Frailay, of Reiders, vice president; Edward Doney, Kunkletown RD. secretary; Leroy Hinton, Gilbert, assistant secretary, and Arlington Smith, Kunkletown, treasurer.

Democrats Plan Rally

AN OLD-fashioned political rally, complete with speeches, picnic supper and cakewalk, has been scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Aug. 28 at Polk Township High School picnic grove by the Polk Township Democratic Club.

The school band will provide the music.

Haluska Cuts Connection With Hospital

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 9 (AP)—State Sen. John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) severed his final connection with Miners' Hospital at nearby Spangler by announcing his resignation as an incorporator today.

The board of trustees of the hospital ousted Haluska as administrator and the entire staff of 16 doctors last month. The medicals had threatened to quit July 15 if Haluska had not resigned or been fired by then. He was named administrator in 1943 at $7,200 a year.

Visiting Judge John Pentz ordered the doctors through a consent agreement to stay on their jobs. The board of trustees, which asked for the order, then withdrew from the case and fired the administrator and the medical staff.

The board agreed to pay the remainder of the senator's salary as administrator for the balance of the year and $2,000 towards payment of his expenses for attorneys, investigators and costs.

In a prepared statement, Haluska said: "I shall now devote my time to the establishment of a Hoxsey cancer clinic within the limits of Cambria County so that those who are afflicted with this dreadful disease will at last have the opportunity of having their choice of treatment, by the conventional methods employed by the American Medical Assn. or by the Hoxsey method, which I sincerely believe to be the most advanced method in our country as of today."

Reports that Haluska wanted to establish a Hoxsey cancer clinic in the nurses' home of the hospital resulted in the rift between the doctors and the senator.

Haluska said he would like to establish such a clinic in the area but denied he wanted to set one up at the hospital.
